

Public Safety Power Shutoff

Prepare Your Business

We may need to turn off power to help prevent wildfires when risk is high. This is a Public Safety Power Shutoff (PSPS). We have resources to help you and your business prepare.

Complete this checklist before a power outage

- Visit pge.com/psps to:
 - Update your contact information to receive outage alerts.
 - Sign up for Address Alerts to receive PSPS alerts for any additional locations that are important to you and your business.
- Save important documents with cloud backups or recovery programs.
- Have backup power banks for your cell phones and/or mobile credit card readers.
- Consider using a mobile hotspot to stay connected if internet goes out.

Keep your business running during a power outage

Backup Power

- Find out if your business qualifies for a Backup Power Transfer Meter or a rebate on a generator or battery at pge.com/backuppower.
- You may qualify for rebates on battery storage or generation. Learn more about the Self-Generation Incentive Program at pge.com/sgip.

PG&E is not responsible for providing backup power before or during a PSPS, but we want to provide as much support as possible.
