CRC Web Update	There are three ways on PG&E's emergency website for customers to view CRC availability within a 50-mile radius during an event: as icons on the map, as a list on the pge.com/crc page and the address search results page. During this event, only two of the three methods were working as designed. The map and list versions were displayed correctly, however the address list was not populating properly due to a data error.		Internal process standards have been updated to ensure the proper format for coordinates are used.	9/20/2023	9/22/2023	Complete

Type of Issue	Description of Issue	Date of Discovery	Risk Priority	Overall Resolution	Responsive Actions	Implementation Starting Date	Estimated Completion Date	Status of Action (e.g., Planning, Implementing, or Complete)
Technology	Opportunities to improve the user interface in data sources to provide more options in how to view/sort/filter data related to potential weather windows and de-energization.	22/10/2022	Level 5	Improvements have occurred within existing applications since the 2022 widdire season which have allowed for additional modifications in viewing data, to better analyze weather windows and de-energization timing. Our data platforms now offer significant options of filtering by streamlining interfaces for handling large data sets. With advanced fiftering options, uses can easily sort trough wat amounts of information to find relevant data points, making analysis quicker and more accurate.	There were no short-term responding actions and this was not implemented during the 2023 technology upgrade. This will require a longer term resolution to mature our PSPS process and tools. See "Overall Resolution" column for more information.	01/12/2022	30/12/2023	Complete
Technology	The address search tool was temporarily unavailable from Sunday night at 21:40 PDT until 11:00 PDT Monday morning due to a system issue.	22/10/2022	Medium	PG&E Data Engineers have made updates to the address search tool to shift requests during a PSPS to another system. This ensures backend support for the tool during times of high traffic on PG&E's website.	For the short-term, PG&E was able to compress address searches to reboot the website.	23/10/2022	03/08/2023	Complete
Technology	Due to technical system issues, a Customer Owned Lines (COL) was not captured in the notification file and did not receive the a cancellation notice.	22/10/2022	Medium	PG&E Data Engineers updated internal tools by adding the relevant time place to all COL customers to ensure inclusion in the cancellation notification files.	There were no short-term responding actions. See "Overall Resolution" column for more information.	23/10/2022	18/11/2022	Complete
Customer Notification	Five SCE customers were potentially impacted by PSPS which required close coordination with our SCE partners.	22/10/2022	Medium	We developed a Shared Customers template with SCE for Post-Event Reports, process documentation for PSPS Shared Customer notifications, and a joint utility procedure to ensure alignment and accurate information is reported to the CPUC.	Our coordination was successful overall. However, further refinement of the process to ensure more timely updates to our SCE partners was needed.	01/02/2023	01/09/2023	Complete
Customer Notification	PG&E made every attempt to provide notified of cancellation, or removal from scope, by notifying all affected entities, including public safety partners, however did not perform these cancellations within the target of two hours of the decision to cancel for portions of the overall 10/22 PSPS event scope.	22/10/2022	High	In 2023, we focused our efforts on simplifying the planning and execution processes. We've simplified the planning process through a combination of process improvements and targeted automation, both of which will enable us to prepare and stage all of our communications clotaleral more efficiently and allow us to execute communications faster. Additionally, we streamlined our execution process to prioritize cancellation notifications ahead of other nortifications, there of more concellation to motifications ahead of other nortifications, there of the cancellation status sooner than in previous years.	There were limited opportunities to execute notice of cancellation as there were challenges with technology and event complexity, including overlapping notification windows for multiple customer populations. For future events, we plan to examine areas of improvement both from a technology and a process perspective.	01/02/2023	01/10/2023	Complete
Data Sharing and Reporting	PG&E's PSPS 7-day forecast update was out of sync with internal processes which resulted in Counties included before approved scope.	27/08/2023	Low	A corrective action was taken to align on updating the PSPS 7-day forecast. The updated process was discussed with all internal stakeholders, and this improvement has been reflected in our PSPS decision making platform. Additionally, we have incorporated this update in all relevant training and job aids.	Continue further synchronization of updates with trainings and job aids.	01/09/2023	30/09/2023	Complete
Data Sharing and Reporting	While statuses were being updated on PG&E's website, Cities and Counties observed information that had not yet been updated but were in the process of being updated.	30/08/2023	Medium	Unlike the Address Look Up tool, city/county content is not available in real-time. To address timing issues, we updated the website language to provide clarification and redirect customers to the Address Look Up tool to view real-time status during PSPS.	There were no short-term responding actions. See "Overall Resolution" column for more information.	13/10/2023	25/10/2023	Complete
Customer Notification	Power Off notifications were delayed due to coordination issues with vendor. See Table 9C and 9H of the August 30- 31 PSPS Post-Event Report for more information.	30/08/2023	Low	We have updated our internal guidance and training materials to ensure the vendor is notified when our internal outage platform automation is turned on and updated.	We coordinated with the vendor immediately after identifying the issue to align on how we can self-serve and locate additional issues in the system.	31/08/2023	08/09/2023	Complete
Customer Notification	Due to a manual error, explained in Section 5.5 of the September 20-21 PSPS Post-Event Report, some customers and facilities did not receive a Power Off notification.	20/09/2023	Low	We identified the issue as a human error and coordinated with the responsible personnel to address and ensure customers receive timely power Off moffictions. Additionally, we updated the automation logic in our internal outage management platform to be able to promptly send Power Off inoffictations to all affected customers in the case that an outage categorization error is identified.	We immediately located the issue and coordinated with the responsible personnel to address and ensure customers receive timely Power Off notifications.	20/09/2023	13/10/2023	Complete
CRC	There are three ways on PG&E's emergency website for customers to view CRC availability within a 50-mile radius during an event as isons on the map, as a list on the pac.com/cr page and the address search results page. During this event, only two of the three methods were working as designed. The map and list versions were displayed correctly, however the address list was not populating properly due to a data error.	20/09/2023	Low	A reminder took place during this year's role specific readiness training to emphasize the proper format of latitude and longitude when uploading to the web.	The team responsible for populating coordinates has updated its internal process standards to ensure the proper format for coordinates is used and the functionality is checked.	20/09/2023	22/09/2023	Complete
Data Sharing and Reporting	An address in Santa Barbara County was mapped incorrectly in our database which caused an area within the County to be shown as in scope. The information was reflected on the PSPS Portal and the Emergency Web.	19/12/2023	Low	We updated the source data with the correct address in the system.	There were no short-term responding actions. See "Overall Resolution" column for more information.	19/12/2023	19/12/2023	Complete
